Board Names Architects for Additions to Schools

Architects to design additions to three Torrance schools were hired Tuesday night by the Board of Education. Kegley, Westphal, Arbogast, and Stewart, Los Angeles, will study the administration building at Torrance High for possible conversion into classrooms. Roy Donley, AIA, and Associates, who designed South High and Torrance District administration facilities, will create additions to both facilities. The South High additions will include more classrooms and additions to shop and music buildings. District office additions would include office space. The number of schools in Torrance has nearly doubled since last additions to the central offices were made.

Church Society Sponsors Ball

A Harvest Time Ball will be sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Margaret Mary parish Oct. 24 at the Retail Clerks' Hall, Harbor City. The Four Friends of Music will provide music for dancing and a midnight buffet will be included in the donation price. The public is invited.

Proceeds of the dance will go to furnish the chapel in the new convent now under construction.

Victoria St. Work Starts This Week

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced county road crews have scheduled resurfacing of Victoria St. from Wall Ave. to Avalon Blvd. this week.

He said completion of the Harbor Freeway to 190th St. next summer will increase the traffic on Victoria and that now is the time to prepare the roadway.

Scouts Have Camp-o-ree

Boy Scout Troop 732 left their headquarters at 7:30 a. m. Oct. 17 for a hike to Alondra Park, where they held a Camp-o-ree. Many things were displayed, from a model camp site with tents erected and bedrolls laid out, cooking gear and crafts. Scouts did their own cooking for the main meal of "mulligan."

Attending the hike were B. Bauman, R. Benjamin, E. Conant, M. Collins, R. Francabandera, R. Henson, K. Holmes, M. Hubbert, T. Kidner, J. Lessner, G. Lindsay, D. Madrano, J. Madrano, B. Rozendol, J. Redmond, B. Sullivan, J. Thome, R. Thompson, J. Thompson, B. Mans, B. McGhan, T. Blunk.

Warwhoop Takes Top U. S. Honors for 12th Time

Members of the El Camino College Warwhoop staff have been notified that the paper tabulated all-American honors for the 12th consecutive semester.

Only two other two-year college publications received the highest rating given by the Associated Collegiate Press at the University of Minnesota. Areas of the publication the ACP judge rated as superior included the editorial page, creativity in coverage of feature and news material, editorial page makeup and sports display.

Areas rated excellent were photography, typography, headline schedule, headline writing, inside news pages, standing art work, front page, sports writing, sports coverage, features, news stories and news sources. Judging was focused upon 23 areas of publication. With a total of 3400 points required to achieve All-American award, the Warwhoop took 3540.

Last spring the newspaper was named winner of a plaque awarded by USC to the junior-college publication in the Southland demonstrating the greatest all-around excellence.

Heading the winning staff was Gary Palmer, a Torrance resident, now continuing his journalism major at San Jose State College.

Editors were Verne Christofferson, Torrance, news; Carolyn Perko, Manhattan Beach, features; Dick White, Inglewood, sports; and Linda Aveny, Redondo Beach, news.

Reporters included Janice Mills and Alfred Montoya of Torrance.
